The 2026 Tacoma Schwingfest:

The 2026 Tacoma Schwingfest kicked off with an impressive “Four!” out of four stars during their annual golf tournament at Spangly Golf Course. With two full flights of teams and plenty of red and white everywhere, it was a vibrant event! This year, participants received Tacoma Swiss Quarter Zips and stunning medals from Switzerland as prizes. A huge shout out to Casey Kaelin for his stellar organization.

The wrestling matches were thrilling, with many young wrestlers stepping into the spotlight. These athletes were tough and improving their schwingen’ skills! Reto Leuthardt, a retired guest wrestler from Switzerland, who had a berg crown and qualified for two Eidg Schwingfests, showcased his talent. Young schwingers making waves included Josh Hansen (who earned a crown), Romeo Gwerder, Garrett Von Moos, Marshall Brockway, and others. After both Leuthardt and Peter Ming secured two wins each, they faced off, much to the home crowd's excitement and Peter Ming ended the victor. They were again paired for the Schlussgang and while Leuthardt showcased excellent counters and nearly claimed victory, the match ended in a draw after an intense ten minutes, with Ming being crowned champion of the day.

Although we hadn’t attended in 12 years, the warmth and hospitality of the people of Tacoma were as welcoming as ever. A friend of mine, whose last visit was 44 years ago, brought her daughters along, and they had an incredible experience reconnecting with tradition. They witnessed the Schwingen, enjoyed a parade with ringing bells and flags from Tacoma clubs, watched the cracking of the whip, enjoyed singing and yodeling, watched a lively Fahnenschwingen, and savored Swiss Girl and Dirty Swiss Girl drinks at the bar. They enjoyed hanging out at the RVs, had dinner in the club, danced to the Washington Stomp, watched the Stampede, and celebrated the presentation of the Crowns and Bells, all while enjoying music from the Kapella Blaser Faver and, of course, free pizza! They even took a short trail hike! For my friend, it felt like experiencing a slice of Switzerland just outside of Seattle. She was also thrilled about the upcoming Oktoberfest!

The dancing continued well past 1:30 a.m., with the Kapella Blaser Faver playing a ten-minute polka to tire everyone out, though the dance floor remained lively with feet stomping for more! The weekend wrapped up with Sunday Mass (did you catch the double sermon), the Beube Schwingfest, featuring an impressive turnout of 33 young schwingers. We were amazed by their skills and techniques in the ring, particularly among the largest group of 6-8 year olds. If these boys keep up their enthusiasm, the schwingfests may continue for many years to come! Steak Dinner was served to over 250 before the music once again took over the night.

The meticulous preparation for breakfasts, lunches, late-night snacks after the dance, bar setup, timing organization, and judge coordination is a testament to the hard work of the volunteers—especially the youth in the kitchen on Sunday, who had a fantastic “here to please you” attitude! If you’ve never been to a Tacoma Schwingfest, it’s an experience you shouldn’t miss. And if you can’t make it next year, remember that the 100th celebration is set for 2028! Mark your calendars, book those flights, or rent an RV to make the trip. You won’t want to miss it!

Prost to the volunteers and congratulations to the Tacoma Swiss Sportsman’s Club and see everyone next year !

The Portland Schwingfest, held in Hillsboro Oregon, is one of the more charming Schwingfests and casts it's brand as a throwback Schwingfest nestled in a Valley where Swiss settled a 100 years ago. The famous burger spot New Helvetia Tavern (New Switzerland Tavern) is right across the street. The Nussbaumer Family generously donates their property for the Schwingfest and has built a concrete slab they place a wooden dance floor on for the party and dance afterwards. The new crop of Schwingers coming up is in full force as Garrett Von Moos made his first Schlussgang, Romeo Gwerder brought his aggressive style and Josh Haug brings a physical approach. Marshall Brockway was the champion of the day with a kurz in the Schlussgang. Big thanks to the Odermatt clan up there as they always go above and beyond as well. "Thank you!" for doing what you do or we would not be thriving in the Pacific Northwest.

BUEBE SCHWINGFEST

The SJVSC Buebe Schwingfest attracted 21 competitors, entertaining a modest audience. As dinner preparations came to a close, the crowd had grown significantly for the Chicken BBQ Dinner! The hat was passed around with $2,000 raised these young boys received generous awards.

The participants were divided into three groups, with the largest consisting of 7- to 10-year-olds, showcasing some notable height and weight variations. Some of matches were thrilling, with several ending in ties.

At the end of the day the 7-10 year old group was broken into boys and girls and the girls ended up with a 1a and 1b tie Lilly Burtschi and Haley Cruz. The 1st place 7-10 group went to: Holden Calhoun. In the 12-13 age group Max Durrer took 1st. In the 14-17 age group Barrett Silva was the 1st place winner. It was very nice to see all of these kids schwingen.

Those wrestling were:
Girls: Lilly Burtschi & Haley Cruz

SCHWINGEN - SPORTSMANSHIP

Observations on Sportsmanship in the FIFA World Cup

Having watched the FIFA World Cup soccer matches, we were notably impressed by the diverse expressions of sportsmanship displayed by fans, coaches, and players. Some not so memorable moments included the booing of national anthems, aggressive actions from players and coaches, and controversial referee decisions. During the award ceremonies, the lack of respect shown towards the winners, coupled with signs held up in the stands, cast an unflattering light on such an important global stage. Sportsmanship in all aspects of sports needs to be the form of respect not only for others but also for the audience that takes the time to show up to watch the sport.

Wrestling in Switzerland

In Switzerland, wrestling is often featured on broadcasts, whether through SRF or various streaming platforms. Unfortunately, instances of unsportsmanlike conduct can overshadow the achievements of even the most deserving wrestlers, damaging their reputation due to a single moment of frustration or anger, as we have seen a few times and at the recent Brünig schwingfest after a fourth-round match.

Wrestling on the West Coast

On the West Coast, although we may not have the same level of broadcast exposure, it's important to remember that everyone has a camera. Any outburst can be easily documented. We have inherited this tradition from our ancestors, continuing to send Schwinger's to compete in Switzerland at their Kantonial Schwingfests and the Eidgenössische. We must ensure that our sportsmanship is represented positively on that stage as well.

In the Ring and out of the Ring: Embodying Sportsmanship

To truly exemplify sportsmanship, keep these points in mind:

- By participating in the ring, you should have read and understand the rules of the WCSWA for Schwingen. *See in this publication.
- When your name is called, proceed to the judges' stand to put on your schwinger hosen and be ready when called into the Schwingen platz.
- Ensure that your schwinger hosen fits properly – not too tight and not too loose, and roll up the cuffs.
- Shake your opponent's hand before the match begins.
- Allow your opponent to gain grips and engage with finesse, technique, and safety on the sawdust.
- Remember that our judges are volunteers who have wrestled before and have reviewed the guidelines for the day's matches. Their decisions are final, even if you disagree. Accept their rulings with grace and dignity.
- The display of sportsmanship at the end of a match is significant: the handshake after the match symbolizes mutual respect, along with the winner brushing off the shavings from the loser's back. This moment is closely watched by the crowd and reflects the respect among Schwinger's.
- Outside of the ring, it's vital to be respectful when commenting on other Schwinger's, judges, and the audience.

Awards

Each club has its unique approach to presenting awards and prize money. Be sure to find out when awards will be given, so you are present for the ceremony, if for some reason you will not be able to be present, let one of the judges know before leaving. If you are receiving an award, please dress appropriately. While casual attire like shorts, sweats, and sandals has become common, it would be nice to see button-up shirts, Swiss shirts, or the Swiss jacket, paired with blue or black jeans or smart pants making a return on stage, to again show respect of showmanship for oneself and for the all the Schwinger's.

If you are to receive a crown or award, select a crown girl and inform her that she will be called upon to present the award on stage. Typically, those receiving crowns or medals will kneel before their crown girl, who will then place the wreath on their head or the medal around their neck. After standing together, a kiss or hug is exchanged. Next, the Schwinger will approach the announcer to collect their prize money and awards, shaking hands with everyone involved. Finally, they should shake hands with fellow Schwinger's before accepting their placement in line. Sometimes, all Schwingers gather for a photo so be sure to stick around so you are included in that nostalgia as well.

Dance

Following the awards, the first dance is always reserved for those who received crowns (including the Buebe and Jr.'s). The next dance is for all Schwinger's. Please honor this tradition and find a dance partner and continue to dance!!

It has been wonderful to see the rising number of Schwinger's at recent events like Truckee, Portland, and Tacoma, making the Schwingfest a truly enjoyable experience. Let's continue to foster positive and thrilling moments on the sawdust!

Purpose Statement for WCSWA Schwingen Rules Update March 2025
During Winter 2025 a subcommittee of all WCSWA clubs participated in a rules review for all WCSWA Schwingfests. The goal was to standardize the rules for every Schwingfest so that schwingers, judges, spectators and Swiss visitors know how the matches will be judged. The rules were also updated to include the current judging standards in Switzerland. This is a living document and will be reviewed at the end of each season.

Discretionary Scoring: A loss shall earn a score of 8.50 and a tie shall earn a score of 8.75. Discretion may be exercised by the two scoring judges plus the referee on each match and for each wrestler to award an extra 0.25 points for exceptional wrestling.
What is a 10?: If off a standing throw, 10 is awarded for a flat or a roll-through pin.
Judge Representation: Every club should nominate a list of potential judges to WCSWA including their contact information. Consider asking wrestlers participating from clubs/regions to be able to nominate a judge to represent their club/region.
Discretionary Pairings: Judges shall exercise discretion in pairing wrestlers for each round with equal points being a consideration but not mandatory.
Method of alerting wrestlers of 3-second vertical bridge count: Referee shall count out loud and use hand signals for crowd awareness.
Schwinghosen fit and pant legs rolled up: The referee shall check belt tension and tightness of pants for each match. A wrestler may ask the referee to check tension and fit of wrestler's pants at any stoppage of wrestling during a match.
Confirm loser of Schlussgang is assured a crown: The loser of a Schlussgang shall be assured of winning a crown.
Percentage of crowns awarded: The number of crowns awarded shall be at the discretion of the host club but should target 30% with the exception of when scores result in a tie with the score of the loser of the Schlussgang.
Time clock: The clock should be kept on the table and the time keeper should be sitting next to announcer.
Wrestlers checking on scoring results: Wrestlers may view only their score at the end of each full round. Any complaining may result in a consensus of the judges issuing a 0.25 deduction to the wrestler's score.
Criteria for Calling Break at edge of platz (when time is called mid-throw):

- Standing throw/wrestling on ground: For a pin to be called, the loser's shoulders must be in contact with the shavings when time is called. The timekeeper should count down audibly at the table with 5-4-3-2-1-Time (Time called on mic)
- While wrestling on the ground: The wrestlers shall be returned to the center of the ring when any part of a wrestler's torso, defined as from the belt of the Schwinghosen to the top of the head and from the shoulder-to-shoulder, passes outside of the wrestling ring.

Who makes the call away from the table or towards the table: The referee shall make the decision on a throw when the throw goes away from the table; the table makes the call when a throw is made towards the table. In the event a throw is made towards the table, the referee shall defer to the table. The table shall make the call timely and announce that call over the microphone.
What constitutes a pin: When 2/3rds of a wrestler's back is in contact with the sawdust, a pin shall be called.
Wrestler's "timeout" in the event of minor injury: In the event a wrestler is injured, the Judges may use their judgement to grant a "timeout" of any duration deemed appropriate to protect the health of the injured wrestler.
Scoring for wrestler when opponent Unfall occurs: In the event a wrestler is injured and unable to continue and no pin has occurred, the Judges will request a volunteer with approximately the same score to wrestle with the un-injured wrestler. That selected wrestler's score will count as their next round; If this occurs in the 6th round, a wrestler shall be selected to wrestle a 7th round and that wrestler shall receive an extra 0.25 point if they win.
Wrestlers who do not finish: Wrestlers who stop without injury are denied wrestlers pay.
New wrestlers without normal 2-3 prior practices: Participation of new wrestlers, defined as having participated in less than 2 prior practices in their Swiss wrestling career, shall be a discretionary decision of the majority of the judges.
Timing for lunch break (what round): The decision to hold a break for lunch and the timing of said break is at the discretion of the host club. The duration of lunch break may also vary de-pending upon the needs of the club. Schwingers and judges should be allowed to proceed to the front of the food line.
If a wrestler "lays down" granting for their opponent, how is it scored: In the event the Judges deem that a wrestler has intentionally allowed themselves to be pinned, the Judges may award the winner an 8.75 and the loser an 8.50. Host clubs shall inform all wrestlers at the initial wrestler's instructions of this rule to promote good sportsmanship and competition on behalf of all wrestlers.

2026 Joseph L. Inderbitzin Perpetual Trophy Award Update

The calculation for the 2026 Joseph L. Inderbitzin continues to garner points. There have been a total of 43 Seniors competing this season. This scoring system allows us to monitor the Schwinger standings at each Schwingfest throughout the year. This is for ALL Schwingfests including Non-Crown Schwingfests. Currently the Schwingers must attend 8 Schwingfests without points being added for missed Schwingfests. When reviewing the numbers - note that each Schwingfest not participated in adds one full point under 8.

- Scoring Methodology": Competitors are scored based on their placement, with points awarded by dividing the number of participants by their individual placements, with the lowest score being the best placement.
- Currently, after eight Schwingfests, Steven Widmer is in the lead.
- Steven and Nathan and Joe Bellavia have all competed in 8 Schwingfests, with 2 left the battle for the Perpetual Trophy will now be between those 3. Since all below those will still have 1 point added to their total even if completing the next two. They needed to attend one more Schwingfest.
- Keep in mind that Championship points can be the dertermining factor!

April 18, 2026

BRÜNIG JULY 26, 2026

Paxton Grass in the Green

The Unique Charm of the Brünig Schwingfest

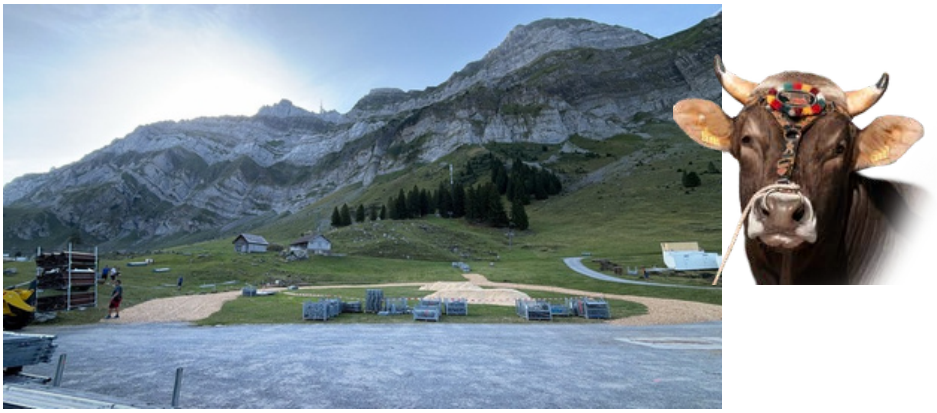

Perhaps this is what makes the Brünig such a remarkable "berg" Schwingfest! With 120 Schwingers competing in front of an audience of 5,850 spectators, the outcome is a rare sight at a Schwingfest! By the end of the day, there was a four-way tie for first place.

The Schlussgang featured a match-up between Eidg. König Armon Orlik and Fabian Staudenmann. Orlik entered the final round with a narrow lead of 0.25 points over Staudenmann. During the 12-minute round, Staudenmann took on the role of aggressor, while Orlik skillfully defended against every attack. As the countdown concluded, the match ended in a tie.

Both wrestlers approached the judges' table for a decision on who would claim victory. Staudenmann received a score of 9.00 for the tie, while Orlik earned 8.75. Ultimately, this resulted in a final tally of 57.25 points for both competitors, which also matched the final scores of Werner Schlegel and Matthieu Burger.

PAXTON GRASS UPDATE - Paxton Grass competed in Brünig placing 11a (2 wins/3 ties/1 loss) and this past weekend at the Fête de lutte du Jura bernois Werdtberg taking 7a - (4 wins, 1 tie, 1 loss). Paxton earned his 3rd crown this year. This same Schwingfest, Fabian Staudenmann earned his 25th - 1st place crown.

The Schwagalp at the bottom of the Säntis is being set up for this weekend. The process is amazing that you see nothing to a full set up ready for the crowd as seen below at the 2025 Schwagalp takes 1-2 weeks for set up and about a week to return the mountain to its glory. Above is Pascal and Werner helping with the process. Pascal is keeping us updated - this is just day 2 !

Who should you expect to see?
Aeschbacher, Ledermann, Moser, Staudenmann, Walther, Collaud, Kramer, Roth, Feldmann, Rychen, Tschudi, Orlik, Good, Ott, Schlegel, Giger, Schneiders (Mario and Dominec)
